Ms. St. Germain was born in Kansas. She was raised in Grants, New Mexico and Tucson, Arizona. She was a Lumberjack and received her Bachelor's Degree from Northern Arizona University.

Ms. St. Germain is always up for an adventure. Some of those adventures have included swimming with turtles in Galapagos, zip-lining in Kauai, climbing the Sydney Bridge, and teachign for the Winslow Unified School District for 37 years. After retiring, she continued her adventures by substitute teaching. She has talked about writing a guide to substitute teaching called "What do I do if the Goat Gives Birth? And Other Tales of Subbing." The title and memories would definitely contribute to a best seller.

We love you Ms. St. Germaine, and are so happy to dedicate this yearbook to you. Thank you for all that you do for every student and staff member at Winslow High School. We treasure the joy, love and encouragement that you share in the classrooms and in our community.

"Better than a thousand days of diligent study is one day with a great teacher."

VIRTUAL MUSEUMS

Most much-loved museums and art galleries have closed their doors due to the coronavirus outbreak, but don't despair. Tech-savvy curators are getting creative with how the public can access their collections, and many are catering to an online audience with insanely good virtual tours.

RUM HAND SANITIZER

As social distancing and quarantine measures continue in the wake of the COVID-19 outbreak, spirits distilleries around the U.S. are pitching in their own way by altering their production lines to focus on the manufacture of hand sanitizer.

EARTH IS HEALING

The coronavirus pandemic is shutting down industrial activity and temporarily slashing air pollution levels around the world, satellite imagery from the European Space Agency shows.

One expert said the sudden shift represented the "largest scale experiment ever" in terms of the reduction of industrial emissions.

Readings from ESA's Sentinel-5P satellite show that over the past six weeks, levels of nitrogen dioxide (NO2) over cities and industrial clusters in Asia and Europe were markedly lower than in the same period last year.

SPECIAL HOURS

Stores around the U.S. and the globe are taking extra steps to help protect the elderly population, which is considered the most vulnerable to the novel coronavirus.

Their efforts come as President Donald Trump urged all older Americans to stay home during a set of sweeping guidelines on Monday.

Stores throughout the states announced plans to dedicate the first hour of each shopping day to senior shoppers, starting on Tuesday.
